What others say about this ebook:

Review 1:

This is a real life account of different situations where children show their innocence, unconditional love, acceptance and wisdom. They are actually teachers casting different perspective on life and human relationships that urge us reset our priorities. We adults might see the world a lot more than kids do, and we might have too much pre-occupations. But these stories show kids are angels sent from the above who, through uncalculated actions and openness with feelings and thoughts, make our days much brighter and happier. A touching and inspiring book for parents and adults.

Review 2:

The Greatest Gifts Our Children Give To Us is a book that beautifully shows the innocence of children and what we can learn from them each day. The stories are wonderfully written and very touching. Take time to smell the flowers and read this book from cover to cover! It will help you prioritize your life.
